Violence Cools on Racial Scene

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The tide of violence continued to ebb today while congressional investigations into the cause of the rioting gained momentum.
As the street action cooled,
debate was joined in Congress
Wednesday over the importance of the role of militant Negro leaders in the recent violence.
Sen. James O. Eastland,
D-Miss., asserted the rioters
"follow tactics used by the Communist party the world over."
Vice President Hubert H.
Humphrey called in Detroit for a Marshall Plan for America's impoverished areas as one means of preventing recurrence of the rioting.
In Milwaukee, police fatally shot a Negro youth Wednesday night. Police said he and three other youths failed to obey a police order to halt. Instead, police said, a firebomb was thrown and the group fled.
The death brought the toll in the Wisconsin city to four since the strife began Sunday.
There was more violence in the Long Island community of Wyandanch, N.Y., but it appeared to be less severe than a similar outbreak Tuesday night.
Some fires flared and there were rock and bottle-throwing incidents.
The Providence, R.I., police incident, as 21 Negro antipoverty workers helped to curb the violence that had struck the two previous nights.
In calling for his Marshall Plan, Humphrey did not give any details. He also urged creation of councils for civil peace at state and municipal levels to deal with riots.
"Our nation is in trouble," the vice president said in his speech before a national convention of county officials. "The first thing is to re-establish law and order in this country by whatever in-legal means it takes to do it."
In Washington, Sen. Edward
W. Brooke, R-Mass., warned that riot inquiries must look at the social and economic condition that lie behind the violence
as well as at law-enforcement officers, agitators and Communists.
Police officials from three troubled cities told Eastland's Senate Judiciary Committee that Black Power agitators from outside their communities
touched off the violence.
They named specifically H.
Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and his predecessor,
Stokely Carmichael.
In Detroit, Mayor Jerome P.
Cavanagh called for a "penetrating and thoughtful" investigation of the conduct of city,
state and federal governments
in last week's rioting there.
The last of 4,700 federal troops left the Motor City Wednesday.

Unions Smooth Over Troubles

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Edgar L. Ball, sub-district director of the United Steelworkers union, and Odell Smith, president of Teamsters Union Local 876, have informed other Arkansas union officials that the two unions have smoothed over some previous disagreements.
Ball and Smith said in a letter to other officials that the two groups had "reached agreement to resolve our differences on a mutually acceptable basis."
The national leaderships of the Teamsters and Steelworkers reportedly ordered that an agreement be reached. It was indicated that the two unions would no longer compete for representation at plants in Arkansas.

Extradition to Louisiana Is Favored

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Louisiana's repeated efforts to have a Searcy motel operator extradited to Louisiana to face charges in a $25,000 theft may finally be successful.
Bob Scott, Gov. Winthrop
Rockefeller's legal aide, said
Wednesday he would recommend that the governor sign the papers necessary for the extradition of Carlton Lee Hammond.
Louisiana Gov. John Mc-Keithen has issued three pleas for extradition during the past three years. All were issued during the administration of former Gov. Orval E. Faubus.
Scott told Hammond during a three-hour hearing that he felt enough evidence had been presented to warrant Hammond's extradition.
Morris B. Lucia of Baton Rouge lodged the charges against Hammond. Lucia testified that Hammond participated in a plan to purchase large denomination bills from an elderly man in Opelousas, La.
Hammond and his attorney,
Darrell Hickman of Searcy, have a week in which to process
a writ of habeas corpus with Circuit Judge Elmo Taylor in White County.

Minsters Back Silvey in Lawsuit

CALICO ROCK — In an open letter to the community last week,
the Calico Rock Ministerial Assistance announced its support of School Superintendent T. J. Silvey, whose ouster is being sought in a taxpayer's suit filed last month in Izard Chancery Court.
The ministers said they had investigated the allegations made against Silvey in the lawsuit and were confident that Silvey "is clean on every charge."
The suit alleged that the superintendent used federal money to buy remedial reading materials and then charged the students for using them and that he made personal use of school credit cards.
The suit also complained that textbooks teaching the theory of evolution were in the schools in violation of state law. The suit, which would enjoin Silvey from acting as superintendent, was signed by about 300 persons, including the district sales manager for World Book Encyclopedia, which contains many references to evolution.
Signing the open letter were
Rev. John Pyles of the First Baptist Church, Rev. Price Lovelace of the Pleasant Valley Baptist Church, William T. Speaker of the Church of Christ, Rev.
Daniel D. Hathaway of the Pleasant Valley Community Church, Rev. Burl N. Long of the Methodist Church and Rev. Charles Faith of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Says Partner Plotted to Kill Him

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) —
Elvin Wade Eaves, 43, of El Dorado, accused of kidnapping and armed robbery, testified Wednesday in circuit court that it was obvious to him that Calvin Eugene Hale, his alleged partner, planned to kill George C. James.
James, 58, had previously testified that on the morning of April 11 he was taken from his home by two men and forced to clear two checks totaling $14,600. He said he was then tied up outside the city in a wooded area.
Hale, 38, of Houston, Tex., is in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., serving time on a narcotics charge. Both he and Eaves have been charged with armed robbery and kidnapping.
Dr. Harvel Harrison, an El Dorado psychiatrist, testified before Eaves took the stand that Eaves has a form of "psychosis." Eaves has pleaded insanity.
Eaves said it became evident to him that Hale planned to kill James and said he was going to cut Hale's throat if he shot James.
"He was going to shoot James between the eyes and take him to the river bottoms and feed him to the hogs," Eaves said.
Eaves testified that he abandoned one suicide plan because his wife was with him.
He said he planned to drive
into a bridge in Louisiana.
A. C. Trevilian of Smackover, Eaves' father-in-law, and the pastor of the First Methodist Church here, Dr. Alvin Murray, testified that they had received a note from Eaves prior to the kidnapping in which Eaves implied that he was going to kill himself to cash in on insurance policies and pay debts
he had.
Harrison said Eaves knows right from wrong but is not able to keep from doing wrong.
Harrison said Eaves seemed "disconnected" in his interviews with him.
The trial enters its third day
today.

Action Could Cost LBJ Some Votes

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's controversy with Michigan Gov. George Romney over use of federal troops in Detroit's riot could cost him needed House votes on a key amendment to the administration's antiriot bill.
A GOP move to shift control of the bill's proposed crime control program from the federal government to the states has strong partywide backing and potential help of Southern Democrats. Also expected to win strong support is an amendment calling for special training for police in antiriot techniques.
The bill, heart of Johnson's antiriot program, would authorize $50 million for grants to local police departments to improve their training and recruitment programs and modernize their equipment.
The administration has said it would ask for $300 million next year and $1 billion the following year.
The money would flow directly between the attorney general's office and the local departments, with governors given the right to review and evaluate grant applications, but not veto them.
Charging this could lead to a federally controlled police system, Republicans are rallying support for their amendment to turn the money over to the states and let them make the grants to local agencies.
A GOP supporter of the administration bill said Wednesday night the widely publicized differences between Romney on one side and Johnson and Atty.
Gen. Ramsey Clark on the other over dispatch of federal troops to Detroit greatly weakened the administration's position in Republican ranks.
"They don't want to have Johnson and Clark telling their local police what to do," said the Republican, who was not identified.

Prison Board Picks a New Secretary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Prison Board has already selected a person for the newly created position of executive secretary according to John Haley of Little Rock, a board member.
The $8,400-a-year position was created Wednesday by the board. The executive secretary will co-ordinate the activities of Cummins and Tucker Prison Farms. Haley said the person's name was being withheld while he discusses the job with his present employer.
The board also voted to spend
$2,000 for an independent audit of the two farms' operations.
The Prison Study Commission has recommended that an audit of the prisons' financial affairs of the past four or five years be made.
The board also indicated that it wanted an audit of the penitentiary store accounts.

RIOT TATICS (From Page 1)

agitors from outside their communities ignited violence.
The names that headed the police list: H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and his predecessor, Stokely
Carmichael.
FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told the civil disorders commission he has no evidence there is a conspiracy behind urban disorders.
Police Chief Brice Kinnamon
of Cambridge, Md., flatly blamed a July 24 riot in his city on Brown.
"I am confident that his speech was the sole reason for our riot," Kinnamon told the Judiciary Committee as he urged approval of a bill that would make it a federal crime to cross state lines with intent to incite riot.
Police Chief Jacob W. Schott of Cincinnati, Ohio, also advocated passage of the House-approved antiriot bill.
Schott said social grievances and leaderless youths from broken homes are among the ingredients of riot-prone conditions.
But he added: "I don't think we would have had trouble if these outside agitators hadn't come in and got people stirred up."
Police Capt. John A. Sarace of Nashville, Tenn., also accused Carmichael and Brown of igniting violence.
In the Senate, Sen. Strom
Thurmond, R-S.C., said Carmichael should be arrested when he returns to the United States from Cuba—"if he returns at all."
"I call upon the Justice Department and the Chief Executive to lay political considerations aside and see that Carmichael is brought to justice if he dares return to this country," Thurmond said, and "that, if he returns, he is charged with advocating the overthrow of the American government by force and encouraging the assassination of the President and other national authorities."

11 Additional Astronauts Selected

SPACE CENTER, Houston,
Tex. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has confirmed the names of five men on a list of at least 11 scientist-astronauts that will be announced within the next few days.
The new spacemen include the nation's first foreign-born astronauts, Dr. John A. Llewellyn, 34, a native of Cardiff,
Wales, and a research chemist
on the faculty of Florida State University, and Philip K. Chapman, a native of Australia and a scientist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
Both Llewellyn, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Chapman, who lives near Boston, are naturalized U.S. citizens. NASA dropped a requirement last year
that astronauts be native-born Americans.
The other three who, according to NASA, are "on the list involved in the final selection process," are Dr. Donald Lee Holmquest, 28, a physician from Houston, Tex.; Dr. Karl G. Henze, 40, an astronomer at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and William E. Thornton,
38, until recently an Air Force
captain at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.
NASA refused to reveal the entire list of new astronauts until all have been notified and a briefing is held with the National Academy of Sciences, which made the initial recommendations from a list of applicants.
Indications were that the academy briefing would be held before the weekend.
Eleven new trainees would swell the NASA astronaut team to 57.

Locals Seek to Strike Two Plants

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — An official of the United Steelworkers union says two Arkansas locals have asked permission to strike Reynolds Metals Co.
plants near Malvern and Bauxite.
Dewey Styles, field representative of Local 333 at Bauxite, said Wednesday Local 333, representing workers at Reynolds' Hurricane Creek plant at Bauxite, and Local 332, representing workers at Jones Mill near Malvern, had asked for strike permission.
Styles said the disputes are over union complaints about the company contracting out certain work to other firms.

Tshombe Closer to a Firing Squad

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — Ex-Premier Moise Tshombe appeared to be closer to a Congolese firing squad today as reliable diplomatic sources said Algerian President Houari Boumedienne has signed a decree for his extradition.

The leader of the 1961 Katanga secession was kidnapped and taken to Algiers June 30 and a court ruled it would be legal to deliver him to Congolese President Joseph Mobutu to be executed for high treason. A Congolese court found Tshombe guilty in absentia and Mobutu said he would get no further trial or appeal.

Boumedienne's personal plane, a Russian Ilyushin 18 with a Soviet crew, is expected to bring Tshombe to Kinshasa. The diplomatic sources said the Soviet government had agreed to its pilots making the flight.

breaking up our marriage. My husband gets jealous when he stares at me. My husband is kind of a jerk anyway.

How can I break it to him that he is a dog without hurting his feelings? — HELPLESS
Dear Helpless:

... Break it to which one? Well, anyway -- Why don't you write him a letter? -- H.

Dear Helen:

I asked a Hippie why he wore bells on his ankles and he said, "Well, you see, I'm trying to find myself, and when I hear the bells, I know I'm around here somewhere." — DAVE

Dear Dave:

Very funny, but it's a lift from Herb Caen's column in the San Francisco Chronicle, and I believe the originator of the joke was Comedian Ronnie Schell. Please kids, when you crack wise, be original! -- H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Those bone-tired, dirty, unshaven fantrymen of ABC's long running "Combat" who have been crawling through mud and wiping out nests of Germans so realistically will march off the network screen at the end of the month. They'll be succeeded by a jolly band of superfighters of the television fun wars.

The new series is called "Garrison's Gorillas," and centers on the exploits of four convicted criminals—a con man, a thief, a killer and a card shark—serving as a sort of special Allied commando group of World War II.

The format resembles the plot of a new film, "The Dirty Dozen," and has some kinship with "Mission: Impossible," and last season's ill-starred "Jericho." Generally speaking, war stories built around more or less contemporary conflict have not been overwhelmingly successful in television. Even some good shows like "Convoy" and "Wackiest Ship in the Army"—rarely lasted more than one season, although "McHale's Navy," and "Rat Patrol" have done very well.

"Garrison's Gorillas" will be in the currently popular deriding-mold and the four "Gorillas" with their commanding officer will play their roles straight. The tongue-in-cheek, camp approach that swept such action shows the past two seasons is now dead.

Ron Harper plays the leader. A tall, good-looking blond Princeton graduate, Harper first came to public notice in "87th Precinct" several seasons back, playing a young policeman in a better-than-average action series. It survived but one season. Then followed "Wendy and Me," a sad little situation comedy in which he played Connie Stevens' husband. This barely staggered through a season. Last year he emerged as Jean Arthur's lawyer-son in a highly touted comedy series that was the season's first casualty. Tony Curtis, wife and children will be the first family visited by ABC's "Good Company," modern version of "Person to Person." Host, defense counsel F. Lee Bailey, equipment and crew will descend on the Curtis home next week to tape the show for its Sept. 9 premiere.

CBS next season will bounce the "Young People's Concerts" with Leonard Bernstein out of prime time into Sunday afternoon spots. But network television's only other regular "good music" show, NBC's Telephone Hour, finally has made the long climb back to an evening hour. It will alternate with network news specials at 10 p.m. (ET) Friday nights—at the tail of the schedule so its predictably low ratings can't hurt any following show.

There is no difference between doves and pigeons, though we use the former term more often for the smaller, gentler members of the family—the symbolic "dove of peace."

Block and Flood Carry the Cards

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Lou Brock and Curt Flood turned off the electricity in Chicago while Pete Rose was switching on the power in Cincinnati.

Brock and Flood clicked for 11 hits between them as the St. Louis Cardinals dimmed Chicago pennant hopes Wednesday with a 4-2, 7-1 doubleheader sweep over the second-place Cubs.

The two victories mushroomed the Cards' National League lead to 5½ games — the biggest since the season.

Rose, meanwhile, became the eighth player in NL history to hit home runs from each side of the plate in a game as Cincinnati drubbed the fading Atlanta Braves 7-3.

The Reds' triumph lifted them within 2½ games of the Cubs while the Braves' fifth loss in their last six starts dropped them 10 games off St. Louis' pennant pace.

Willie Mays drove in three runs with a double and his 15th homer, leading fourth-place San Francisco past Pittsburgh 7-2.

Houston downed the New York Mets 5-2 and Philadelphia shaded Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings in other NL games.

In the American League, Cleveland knocked off the Chicago White Sox 5-1; Washington edged Minnesota 5-4 in 11 innings; California nipped the New York Yankees 5-4; Kansas City upended Boston 8-6 and Baltimore bowed to Detroit 4-2 before winning 2-1 for a doubleheader split.

Brock slapped out six hits in the Cards' twin-bill sweep — four of them in the nightcap — and lifted his batting average to .291. Flood, who has 14 hits in 28 at bats since coming off the disabled list last Friday, contributed three singles in the opener and two more in the second game, bringing his average to .321.

Right-hander Dick Hughes and southpaw Steve Carlton put together successive complete games for the league leaders, scattering seven hits apiece, and brought their season marks to 10-3 and 10-6, respectively.

Brock drove in two runs with a second-inning single in the opener, then doubled and scored the deciding run in the sixth.

In the third inning of the nightcap Brock and Flood beat out successive bunt singles, triggering a four-run burst.

Switch-hitting Rose started a five-run rally in the third inning at Cincinnati with a right-side homer off southpaw Denny Lemaster, then connected from the left side against reliever Cecil Upshaw in the eighth. Lee May's three-run homer was the big blow in the third-inning uprising.

Mickey Mantle is the all-time switch-homer king, having connected from each side 10 times for the New York Yankees.

Mays hit his second homer in two games — after a month-long drought — following a first-inning single by Jesus Alou and drilled a run-scoring double after another Alou single in the Giants' five-run third.

Given the early lead, Gaylord Perry breezed to his eighth victory in 20 decisions. He allowed nine hits, but was backed by five double plays — one short of the league mark for a nine-inning game.

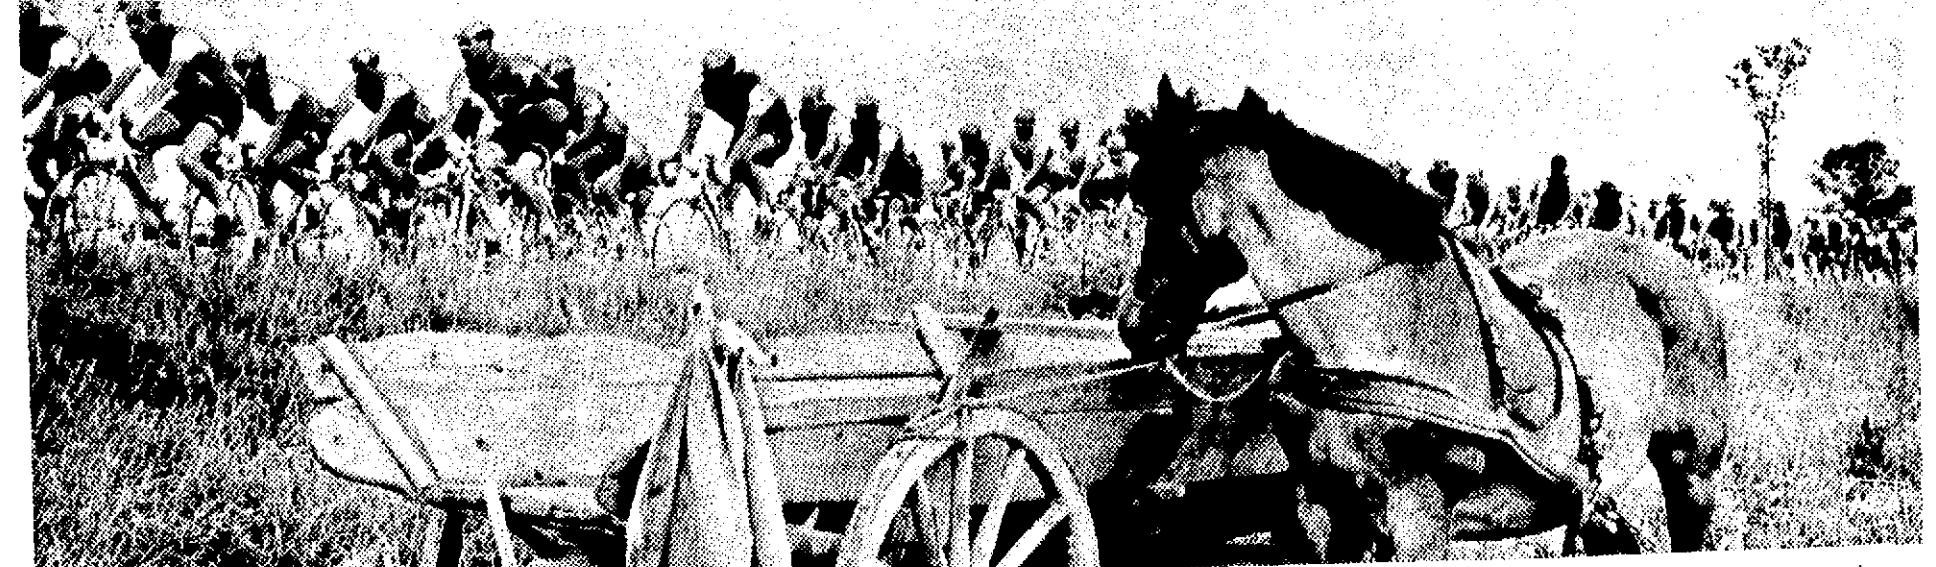

Ron Davis' RBI double snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth at Houston and keyed a three-run explosion that carried the Astros to their eighth victory in nine games. Davis also singled in the sixth, moved to third on a wild pitch and ground out, then scored the tying run on a passed ball.

Left-hander Mike Cuellar went the route for Houston and stopped the Mets on six hits for his 11th triumph against six losses.

The Phillies got by Los Angeles on a run-scoring single in the 10th by Rich Allen, whose ninth-inning throwing error had enabled the Dodgers to tally the tying run.

Jim Bunning recorded his 11th victory, although tagged for 11 hits before giving way to Dick Farrell in the 10th.

Two Relief Hurlers Reap Rewards

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Relief pitchers Casey Cox and Moe Drabowsky reaped the rewards of their profession, noted for its ups and downs, Fred Gladding, another bullpen specialist, couldn't stand the heat.

Cox pitched the top of the 11th inning against Minnesota Wednesday night and won his fifth game in six decisions when Washington broke a tie for a 5-4 victory in the bottom of the inning.

Drabowsky worked the ninth, with Baltimore trailing the Detroit Tigers 1-0 and notched his seventh victory against one loss when Brooks Robinson homered in the Oriole half of the inning for a 2-1 triumph and a doubleheader split. Detroit won the opener 4-2.

Gladding, 3-4 in relief, made his first start of the season for Detroit in the nightcap and was working on a five-hitter and a 1-0 lead through five innings.

But then he fired in the heat, the curse of many starting pitchers, and had to turn over the pitching chores to Pat Dobson. The rookie held the lead until Robinson's homer made him a loser and relegated Gladding's starting stint to the experience-only category.

Cleveland beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City outslugged Boston 8-6 and California edged New York 5-4 in other American League action.

In the National League, St. Louis whipped Chicago 4-2 and 7-1, San Francisco drubbed Pittsburgh 7-2, Cincinnati topped Atlanta 7-3, Houston upended New York 5-2 and Philadelphia nipped Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings.

Hank Allen's two-out single sent home Ed Stroud, who had singled and stolen second, with the winning run for Washington which had blown a 4-0 lead.

Minnesota tied the game in the eighth when Rod Carew drove in a run with an infield hit, Tony Oliva one with a sacrifice fly, and Harmon Killebrew two with a single.

Al Worthington, who came out of the Minnesota bullpen, in the 11th inning, was tagged with the loss.

Consecutive homers by Al Kaline and Norm Cash — Kaline's coming with a man on — in the first inning sparked Detroit to its first-game victory.

In the nightcap, consecutive singles by Jim Northrup, Mickey Stanley and Jim Price gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead in the second inning, and the run stood up until Frank Robinson walked to open the ninth and Brooks followed with his homer.

Steve Hargan set down the league-leading White Sox on seven hits. He got all the offensive help he needed in the first inning when three singles and a throwing error produced two Indians runs.

Tony Horton collected four singles and Leon Wagner hit his 15th homer for the Tribe.

Mike Hersherberger's double, Ted Kubiak's triple and Tim Lorton's pinch single snapped a 6-6 tie in the eighth inning and gave Kansas City its victory. Boston had tied the score on Tony Conigliaro's sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Ken Harrelson homered and doubled in two runs for the Athletics. Mike Andrews hit a two-run homer for Boston.

New York took a 4-3 lead with two runs in the seventh, but the Angels pulled it out with two in the ninth on pinch hitter Roger Repoz' leadoff single, Jose Cardenal's triple and Woody Held's single.

Packers and All-Stars Play Friday

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' offensive unit can't be blamed too much Friday night if they think they are participating in a replay of last year's 10-10 tie between Notre Dame and Michigan State.

The defensive line-up for the collegians in the 34th College All-Star football game at Soldier Field is crammed with former Irish and Spartan stars.

The front four—football parlance which means one ton of speed and toughness concentrating on the sudden immobilization of the man with the ball—is made up of Bubba Smith of Michigan State, Pete Duranko of Notre Dame and Alan Page of Notre Dame and Nebraska's Carel Smith.

The linebacking corps is headed by State's George Webster and the Irish's Jim Lynch. Lynch is also the defensive signal-caller for the All-Stars, a job he handled at Notre Dame while leading the 1966 Irish to their first undefeated season in 13 years.

Smith, 6-foot-7 and 285 pounds, played defensive end in such a fashion at Michigan State that Baltimore selected him as No. 1 draft choice in the professional football draft.

Coach John Sauer has shifted Bubba to defensive tackle for the encounter with Green Bay and this move matches Smith with the formidable Jerry Kramer, the All-Pro Green Bay guard who has been moving big men around for the better part of 10 seasons.

Page, who anchored Notre Dame's line, will take his familiar right end position, but his college teammate Duranko switches from tackle to Bubba's spot at end.

Duranko should have little trouble adjusting to the position. He began his Notre Dame career as a fullback, moved to linebacker and finished his days at defensive tackle where he drew All-America notice.

Smith, at 6-foot-5 and 260 pounds, fills out the front four. Lined up behind Smith will be Lynch, the 225-pound Maxwell Trophy winner and the second draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs.

Standing behind Duranko will be Webster, whose size and speed made him the ideal "monster" back in college football. Webster is a vicious and sure tackler and an exceptional pass defender who will be counted on to help the deep backs thwart the packer aerial attack.

Work of Many Will Be Climaxed Today With State Tourney Play

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

With Thursday the 3rd having finally come into being, it is time for the gathering held once every year, and sometimes called the Little League State Tournament. This meeting, though, is very special in the minds of many local people.

There are several reasons why the "very special" term comes into mind at this particular moment. Today and tomorrow's championship matches are the climax of a year's preparation.

Last year, when the local All-Stars went to the state meet in Corning, the total local contingent was impressed with the entire facilities.

Wanting to host a tourney on our own, it was arranged for this year's state meet to be held in Hope. Then came the long process of rebuilding the K Park field. Home plate was moved around so that the sun wouldn't bother the fielders, then the grass was planted. Soon work began on the dugouts, which were copied to an extent from the Corning setup.

After the field was completely readied, new stands were installed and a spacious press box was built that overlooked home plate. In the past several weeks the final phase has been finished, a new concession stand located underneath and behind the press box. Now if only the Hope All-Stars could take the district tournament, we could host this state championship with a ranking representative.

The rest you know about. Two smashing victories at Monticello, and the district title was Hope's for the second straight year. So, with Little Rock, Pine Bluff, and Corning all to challenge, this should be a lively affair. All the local people have done a wonderful job, and here I single out George Frazier, president of the local Little League Association, in making ready the entire facility.

Tonight and tomorrow night will decide. Will the Hope Cinderella story continue with our winning the state trophy? Will the newly finished park be praised for its fine condition as it has already so many times this year? One of those questions can be answered; one cannot. We know our K Park is as good as any around, but how about our All-Stars? Come down to K Park at 5:30 this afternoon, watch the two semifinals, and answer that query for yourself. I'm too superstitious to guess until it's all over. In case you can't make it KXAR will be broadcasting all the state games live, beginning tonight at 5:20 p.m.

Wire Boys Capture Park Series

Little League series play ended Wednesday at City park with a clean sweep by the Wire Products team which is managed by Floyd Turner, assisted by Willie Stuart. The victory came over the Merchants, managed by Kenneth Muldrew.

Products won the first game 18-0 behind the hurling of DeWayne Jackson who fanned 10 and allowed only one hit.

The score of the second game was 7-1 and Jimmy Smith had a no-hitter going until the final inning. He struck out 13. Tommy Bostic was the losing hurler.

In the third game the score was 5-1. There was pitching duel until the 3rd inning when Chester Peeny hit a three run homer giving Wire Products a three run lead. The Merchants came back in the final inning with back-to-back singles and Jackson tossed a couple of wild ones with a run resulting. Again Jackson struck out 10 of 15 men faced. Martin struck out seven for the loser.

Saints Beaten by Field Goals

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams spoiled the debut of the New Orleans Saints into the National Football League with a 16-0 exhibition game victory Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium.

Gossett hit on placements from 14, 9, and 45 yards out to provide the difference as each team had a touchdown in the league's preseason opener before 26,364.

Although the Rams dominated the first half and built a 10-0 lead, the new Saints marched back with a stronger showing in the final period.

Action in Improverished Areas Asked

By A. F. MAHAN
DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says "the rule of the jungle will not prevail" in the United States and he calls for "a Marshall Plan" for America's impoverished areas as one means of preventing racial violence.

The vice president also proposed establishment of councils for civil peace to deal with riots. He spoke Wednesday night before a national convention of county officials in Detroit, where riots claimed 41 lives and left an estimated $500 million damage last week.

He went into no details on his Marshall Plan proposal. The original Marshall Plan, proposed by then-Secretary of State George C. Marshall, committed lions to help rebuild European countries after World War II, countries after World War II.

"Our nation is in trouble," Humphrey said. "The first thing is to re-establish law and order in this country by whatever legal means it takes to do it."

This brought applause.

He proposed councils for civil peace at state and, where possible, metropolitan levels. He said they could include representation from all racial and religious groups, state government, the National Guard and law-enforcement agencies.

They could provide, he said, a community relations service "designed to prevent violence and to gain community cooperation and to hear the voices of those who have gone unheard."

He added they could set up an early-warning system "so that coming disorders might be detected in advance and, perhaps, be stopped before they begin."

2-Run Homer Breaks 11 Game Streak

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jose Arcia crashed a two-run homer and Jimmy Lee Jackson pitched a four-hitter as the Arkansas Travelers defeated Albuquerque 2-0 here Wednesday night.

The victory broke the Travs' 11-game losing streak.

Arcia hit his ninth home run of the year in the sixth inning with Art Deras on base.

The start was Jackson's third since joining the Travs on July 23. Jackson was the St. Louis Cardinals' recent first round pick from Grambling University.

Dodger starter Mike Kekrich had beaten the Travelers three times in route-going efforts.

Dallas-Fort Worth moved into fourth place in the Texas League behind the seven-hit pitching of George Sherrard. The Spurs defeated Austin 4-2 at Arlington, Tex.

Amarillo moved eight games in front of second-place El Paso by dumping the Sun Kings 3-2 in 11 innings.

No Strike for Profit Share, Source Says

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers bargainer says the union will not strike to get profit sharing from the nation's automakers this year.

Douglas A. Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler Department, said Wednesday the union had found rock-hard resistance to the idea from management and would wait until later to press its demands.

Profit sharing, or "equity sharing" as UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it, was a surprise demand when the union opened new contract negotiations July 10.

Reuther told Ford, Chrysler and General Motors that bargaining without including profit sharing was "primitive nonsense."

He said it was impossible to predict in 1967 what a worker's fair share of a company's earnings would be over a new three-year contract.

Fraser told a newsman Wednesday, however: "If profit sharing were the only issue, it would not be a strikeable issue."

Pressed for explanation he said the newsmen could "reasonably draw the conclusion" there would be no strike over profit sharing this year.

But, he added, "It's a seed we've sown. We'll be back another year."

In recent days, there has been speculation whether Detroit's rioting would make a strike less likely in the auto industry when current three-year pacts run out Sept. 6.

The rioting last week left an estimated $500 million in property and related damage.

A Fire Department report shows 387 buildings were destroyed. In addition, many stores were looted bare, some factories were shut down and operations were disrupted at others because of a curfew, and new car sales virtually dried up.

Thousands of auto workers lost several days pay because of the shutdowns. Service industries were hard hit as workers remained home at official urging.

The Detroit News quoted a "veteran bargainer" Wednesday as saying, "There is no question that it will be more difficult for Reuther now to call a strike."

Labor experts point out that while Detroit and Michigan are the home of the Big Three automakers, only 250,000 of the industry's 750,000 employees are in metropolitan Detroit. The others are spread from New York to California.

A scaling down of demands for guaranteed annual income and other benefits could get Reuther into political difficulty within his union.

Union sources have pointed out that the rioting might have supplied Reuther with a new argument: that meeting his demands for such things as higher wages, earlier retirement and increased pensions would eliminate some of the causes of unrest such as unemployment.

3 Arkansas Firms Charged by the FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Arkansas firms were among those charged Wednesday by the Federal Trade Commission with a conspiracy to fix prices and allocate customers for linen rental services.

The charge was leveled against 15 companies and seven individuals in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi. The complaint also listed 18 other firms, including 12 in Arkansas, as conspirators but did not name them as formal parties to the complaints.

The FTC said the complaint marks the start of a formal case. The complaint said the companies and individuals "agreed, conspired, combined, acquiesced and cooperated, between and among themselves and others, to allocate linen rental customers" and to increase, fix and maintain prices.

The complaint charged these Arkansas firms and individuals with violating the Federal Trade Commission Act: Independent Linen Service Co. of Arkansas, Inc., of Little Rock and its president and general manager, Hollis Yearwood; Arkansas Industrial Uniform Service Co., of Little Rock and its president, Douglas Parrish; Industrial Town and Uniform Supply of Little Rock and its manager, W. W. Watson, and Jack Shields, Bew of Little Rock, president and general manager of Independent Linen Service Co. of Arkansas.

The FTC named the following

TREAD WEAR indicators, a standard safety feature on new car tires, are being put into replacement tires as soon as possible, according to the Rubber Manufacturers Association. ## Seeks Plan to Inform Public of Casualties

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy plans a self-examination of how it informs the public about who is involved and who isn't in such military disasters as the USS Forrestal fire.

Specifically, the Navy will look at its performance in publicly identifying the men who died, were injured or missing after flames swept the 4,300-man carrier off North Vietnam Saturday.

Sources said an admiral is being assigned to head up the investigation. It took the Navy four days to get out a reasonably complete list of the Forrestal victims.

While families of the more than 100 casualties were notified much sooner, the relatives of the more than 4,000 other men aboard the carrier had no way of knowing the fate of those crewmen.

This posed the question of whether the Navy has a responsibility, in cases where so many men are involved, of letting all relatives know more quickly about the crew's fate.

Some officers think this could be done by providing news media with the list of known casualties even as efforts continue toward reaching their relatives.

By a process of elimination, survivors' relatives could determine from these lists whether their men were involved—therefore being spared long hours or days of anguish.

This approach, however, runs the risk that some next-of-kin will hear of family deaths before the government has contacted them.

Pentagon policy is to avoid such situations as that of a mother learning from a news broadcast or newspaper her son has been killed.

Sources said the Navy's probe will touch on this general problem, study the Forrestal situation specifically and perhaps make recommendations on handling information about future tragedies.

The Navy casualty branch, headed by a civilian, notified nearest relatives of the dead, missing or seriously wounded men on the Forrestal. The casualty office did not compile a casualty list, but individual names were released as relatives were reached.

"It might seem cruel at first, but I wonder if we don't have just as big a responsibility in letting the survivors' relatives know as quickly as possible about exactly which men have been hurt or killed," one harassed officer asked.

Deprivation Among Whites and Negroes

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators looking for racial discrimination in Mississippi welfare programs report finding wide spread deprivation among both whites and Negroes with no clearcut differences between them in welfare payments.

"Human needs are not being met," said the report, made last December by Health, Education and Welfare Department staffers but released only recently under the U.S. Freedom of Information Act.

"General deprivation, affecting both Negroes and whites irrespective of any specific discrimination toward Negroes, was found to be a major problem," said the report. But it added: "This poverty, because of income levels, falls more heavily on Negroes than others."

The study, based on interviews with about 150 persons in 10 Mississippi counties, found "poverty exists throughout the state both within and without the public welfare programs. Limitations in law and inadequate appropriations are contributing factors. A negative attitude toward welfare is commonplace."

Those interviewed included civic and civil rights leaders as well as welfare workers and officials.

Mississippi has the lowest average assistance payments of any state and receives the highest percentage of federal contributions toward its public assistance, the study said. Yet it also noted Mississippi has the lowest per capita income of any state but "nevertheless exceeded 27 other states for assistance payments from state and local funds per $1,000 of personal income in 1965."

Several members of Congress, including Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., charged recently that people are going hungry in Mississippi. In response to such allegations from Capitol Hill and elsewhere, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has lowered the price of food stamps for needy families.

Investigators said one source which has held back full compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act is "an undercurrent of fear" among both Negroes and whites in Mississippi.

The report said whites fear "that social change as required by provisions of the Civil Rights Act may threaten the entire social structure" and that Negroes fear "reprisals, physical, social and economic, if they insist on the rights to which they are entitled."

300 Killed in Thailand

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — An estimated 300 persons were killed or wounded in a three-day battle between two Chinese hill tribes using machine guns and rockets, Deputy Premier Praphas Charusathien said today.

Praphas told his weekly news conference an unknown number of Burmese, Laotians and Thais were among the casualties in the battle in Burma's Shan state along Thailand's northern border.

Praphas said the two tribes of between 500 and 1,000 men each fought over what was believed to be a double-cross in their opium traffic.

The moon's diameter has been estimated at about 2,160 miles.

'Not Rah-Rah, but Ready'

FAIRFIELD, Conn.—(NEA)—Bill Triplett, who is 26 years old, would like to toss out two years of his young life. If and when he ever gets around to writing his memoirs, those years might make the best reading. But they are also his greatest frustrations.

The first year was 1964, and it started to go bad for him on a March evening—a Friday, he remembers—when he sat down to dinner. He complained to his wife, Jacqueline, that he had a pain in his chest. She couldn't see anything wrong. Bill weighed a robust 222 pounds, about seven over his playing weight as a running halfback for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The next night, at dinner, he felt that same dull ache, so Jackie made a mental memo to get him a doctor's appointment. Bill went on Monday, and the doctor in Cincinnati, where they lived, checked him out perfect. But by this time, Bill was running a low-grade fever, and his wife insisted that he go back to the doctor.

Now, the chest X ray showed a dark spot, and the doctor didn't waste any time. "You're a sick man," he told Bill. "You're going right into the hospital."

"How can I be sick?" he protested. "I don't feel sick. I don't look sick."

Bill had a virulent tubercular bacillus, and he was lucky. They caught it before the disease debilitated him. Still, he had to spend two months in the hospital. And when he got out, the diagnosis was no football for a year after that. It was tough on a fellow who had just established himself as the second-leading rusher on a team which also featured such fine runners as John David Crow and Prentice Gault. When the season started, Triplett was working in the front office doing public relations for the Cardinals. He still didn't feel sick.

The second frustrating year was 1966. He had returned to playing in '65 and this time led the Cardinals in rushing, ahead of Willis Crenshaw, Thunder Thornton, Gault and Joe Childress—the Cardinals had traded Crow because they knew Triplett would be back. Bill had carried the ball 174 times, and his 617 yards placed him ninth in the National Football League.

In 1966, he carried the ball a total of 13 times. The last five weeks of the season, he never got his hands on a football, while the Cardinals, who had been leading the eastern conference of the NFL, dropped to fourth place.

"They had this young fellow named Johnny Roland," Triplett will explain somberly, "and they had paid him a lot of money to play halfback." There was more to it than that, and Triplett will also admit there was a "personality conflict" between him and the Cardinals' new coach, Charley Winner.

"I'm not one of those fellows who shows a lot of emotion," explains Bill. "I can't be rah-rah. I build a fire within myself, and when it's ready to come out, I'm ready to play. That's the way I am, and that's the way I've been all my career, going back to high school."

Implicit was the fact the new Cardinal regime expects him to be a gungho extrovert. So last winter he was traded to the New York Giants. Bill wasn't surprised.

"I've been preparing myself mentally for a change the last year and a half," he says realistically. "I mean, when you're sitting there and you know you've led the team in running and you're 100 per cent, and they don't even use you a few plays to spell the running back, something's wrong. I knew I had to go."

And if his destination has to be the Giants, that's O.K., too. New York originally drafted him as a pro for the 1962 season but traded him to the Cardinals for quarterback Ralph Guglielmi before he ever put on a uniform. Triplett always had a kinship with the Giants, though. His older brother Mel played in New York for six seasons.

There is a place for Bill on the club. The halfback job is already staked out for him. After all, the Giants won only one game in 1966 and know all about frustration.

Petit Mal Is Blackout With Epileptic Link

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What is petit mal? What causes it? Is there any cure?

A—A petit mal attack is a momentary blackout associated with the milder form of epilepsy. In the typical full-scale or grand mal attack the victim utters a cry, loses consciousness, drools or froths at the mouth and breathes heavily with snoring sounds. After either type of seizure the victim has no recollection of what went on during the spell. The cause is unknown but heredity is believed to be a factor.

In different persons various precipitating factors have been observed, such as exposure to flickering light, watching television, the discharge of a flash bulb, loud noise, monotonous music or sudden fright. There is no cure but most cases can be controlled with anticonvulsant drugs.

Q—Is Dilantin given only for epileptic spells? Could a woman have her first seizure at 60?

A—Diphenylhydantoin (Dilantin) is an anticonvulsant drug used chiefly to prevent grand mal seizures. It may also be used for other convulsive disorders. Epilepsy usually starts in childhood but some types, especially those caused by an injury to the head or disease of the blood vessels of the brain, may start at any age.

Q—What is a clonic convulsion? If you've had one are you apt to have more. I'm taking phenobarbital as a preventive. Is it habit-forming?

A—A clonic convulsion is one in which there is alternate contraction and relaxation of muscles as distinguished from a tonic convulsion in which the contraction persists. Epileptic convulsions are clonic. A person with this disease is likely, unless it is under control with drugs, to have repeated seizures but there is no set pattern to the interval between attacks. Although all barbiturates are habit-forming there are some forms of epilepsy for which they should be taken indefinitely.

Q—My doctor says I have hyperkeratosis of my lower lip. He suggested no treatment. What do you advise?

A—Hyperkeratosis is a thickening of the skin, often with some pigmentation, and is commonly seen in persons who are past 50. The spots are known as senile freckles. Those that appear on the lip should be carefully watched for evidence of cancer. As a preventive measure many doctors advise removing them with an electric needle or carbon dioxide snow.

British Coal Board Blamed for Tragedy

LONDON (AP) — A judicial tribunal blamed Britain's nationalized coal board today for the slide of coal mine wastes which crashed down on the Welsh village of Aberfan last October, killing 116 schoolchildren and 26 adults.

The 70,000-word report accused coal board officials of "bungling ineptitude" and said the disaster "could and should have been prevented."

The Aberfan school and 18 houses around it were engulfed by a mountain of coal slag from the mines, known in Wales as a coal tip. The daily addition of waste to the pile is known as tipping, and the report said a total absence of tipping policy was the basic cause of the disaster.

The three-man tribunal was headed by Lord Justice Edmund Davies, son of a Welsh miner.

The report will be debated in the House of Commons when Parliament reassembles this fall.

"The report... tells not of wickedness but of ignorance, ineptitude and a failure in communications," the panel said.

"Ignorance on the part of those charged at all levels with the siting, control and daily management of tips, bungling ineptitude on the part of those who had the duty of supervising and directing them, and failure on the part of those having knowledge of the factors which affect tip safety to communicate that knowledge and to see that it was applied."

The report said those in Aberfan who had expressed fears regarding the stability of the tip "were brushed aside by National Coal Board officials."

The tribunal called for action to safeguard the future condition of the Aberfan tips and said all tips should be regarded as potentially dangerous.

Miss Stalin Sues British Publisher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LONDON (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva's memoirs went on sale in a Russian-language edition throughout Britain today as a high court judge began hearing legal arguments about its copyright.

Hutchinson & Co., the British publisher which has contracted to publish the memoirs in Britain, said it had issued the Russian edition to confirm the copyright.

A spokesman said the firm did not expect a large sale for the paperback edition, which sells for $7.

Hutchinson and Mrs. Alliluyeva's lawyers are suing in the high court to block the publication of an unauthorized edition of the memoirs, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," by Alex Flegon, a London publisher who says he got the manuscript from sources in Russia. He claims there is no copyright law applicable since Mrs. Alliluyeva wrote the memoirs in the Soviet Union and that country is not a party to the international copyright agreement.

Hopeful Gun Control Plan Is Accepted

BLYTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Blytheville Police Chief George Ford, named by the Arkansas Association of Police Chiefs to produce a gun control law for Arkansas cities, said he hoped to have a final draft of his plan by Oct. 30.

Ford said he thinks he has a law that perhaps even the National Rifle Association will approve. His proposal has the support of the Arkansas Association of Police Chiefs.

Oct. 30 is when the Arkansas Municipal League meets and, Ford said, "We'd like to have it ready to show the mayors." He said he didn't see how anyone could oppose it.

The proposal deals only with weapons that are shorter in over-all length than 26 inches and contains no prohibition that would hamper the hunter or target shooter.

Ford's proposal also concerns itself with a new police problem, the homemade fire bomb. "The law we want will make it costly to be in the same room with a grenade or bomb," Ford said. In the words of the rough draft, being in the "presence" of a machine gun or bomb means unlawful possession.

The proposal also deals with blackjacks, knives, brass knuckles and other weapons. Also outlawed is the sale or manufacture of any of these items.

Knives would come under the law if they had blades longer than 3½ inches. The target shooting pistol must be wrapped, or in a box, or in the locked trunk of a car.

Ford's proposal also calls for persons buying handguns in retail stores to be required to assist the sales clerk in filling out a questionnaire.

Official Leaves Tanzania Secretly

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — The government has confirmed that Oscar Kambona, former Cabinet minister and secretary-general of the ruling TANU party, had left the country secretly for Europe. A statement from the Ministry of Information and Tourism said Tuesday that Kambona left Dar-es-Salaam last week by car for Nairobi, Kenya, where he bought a ticket for himself, his wife and children and his house-boy. No reason was given.

U.S., Russia Help China Develop Bomb

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

ALTON L. BLAKESLEE Both America and the Soviet Union gave significant help to China's drive for nuclear power. America helped by training highly skilled scientists and then deporting them to a China under communism. Russia helped by sending scientists, technicians and materials to China and training Chinese in Russia.

Now both were appalled at the prospect of an unstable China possessing nuclear-tipped missiles, a hydrogen bomb and potential for quick development of long-range rockets. Ironically, both were haunted by the same question: by how many years did their help speed up the Chinese timetable?

Eventually China, with a wealth of talented people and natural resources, would have made it on her own. But in 32 months she had marched from A-bomb to H-bomb in a third the time it had taken the United States.

Before communism, Americans, British and French considered China a friend and ally. After communism, Russia treated China as an ally, vowing "eternal friendship." Today Peking is implacably hostile to America, calls the Soviet regime "enemy No. 1," vows publicly to support brush-fire wars which could lead to catastrophe, and to aid the spread of nuclear weapons.

American help to China dates back as much as 30 years. Soviet help dates to the 1950s after communism seized China.

Before World War II, there was a heavy influx of Chinese students into the United States. By 1950, more than 3,000 Chinese were on top U.S. campuses.

Many remained after communism took over the mainland. Some were lured back by threats. Some were disheartened by a U.S. climate they considered hostile to Orientals. Some were frightened by the era of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, H-Wis., and his celebrated hunt for Communists. Some probably left out of sympathy for a Communist China, some for a combination of all those factors.

About 80 men whose U.S. training could contribute much to a nuclear program went back. Their roles would be significant.

Russia trained many engineers, technicians and scientists for the nuclear drive. Moscow extended important help in an "atoms for peace" agreement. Soviet scientists worked with Chinese in China, even selected the site for prospective testing.

The roll of Chinese scientists who went home from America, laden with know-how and often with bitterness, is impressive.

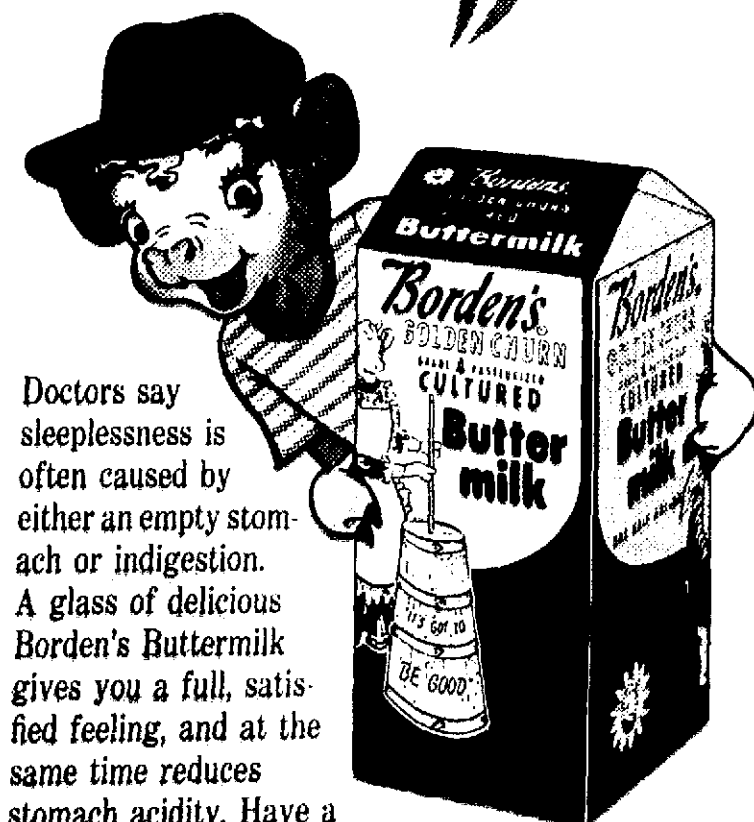

Among them were: Dr. Chao Chung-yao, outstanding physicist, alumnus of the California Institute of Technology, veteran of 24 years research in the United States and once an official observer at U.S. A-bomb tests; Dr. Tsien Hsue-shen, brilliant Caltech alumnus considered one of the world's top rocket researchers, who undoubtedly had a key part in marrying China's nuclear warhead to a missile.

Captured Soon After Escape

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—Officials at Cummins Prison Farm said Tuesday that Henry Lee DeLong, 26, of Fayette, Ohio, was captured Tuesday about five hours after he escaped from Cummins. Officers said DeLong was captured about two miles west of Gould. He was serving a one-year term for burglary.

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex H. WashburnCivilization Only Skin-Deep, in Men or Animals

The old saying that "Civilization is only skin-deep" is usually applied to mankind but the truth is reinforced by what we learn from the animal kingdom.

Our domestic animals are civilized enough when they are around us, but only because they are smart enough to recognize that good behavior pays off in terms of food and lodging and protection. But animals when off to themselves write a different story.

If I seem to be thinking out loud it's because I'm mulling over what I shall have to put down on paper for a certain government report. Because I keep some pet Mallard ducks and Canada geese I have to maintain a federal permit from the Wildlife Bureau in Atlanta, Ga. Along with every federal permit goes the chore of filling an annual report. How many wildlife creatures did you start the year with? How many did you wind up with? Did you sell any? If so, you bought 'em, and what are their permit numbers? And so on endlessly.

But this year the report is complicated by the fact that domestic animals which are civilized in the presence of the owner turn back the clock the moment his back is turned.

What I've got to tell the government is that I lost two Mallard drakes—and the loss was strictly involuntary. The story goes like this:

Every time I feed the wildlife I follow the same routine: When I go into the "back 40" I count the Mallards, and when I return to my backyard I count the dogs. There should be 15 Mallards and 2 dogs. I still have 2 dogs, but now there are only 13 Mallards. My routine slipped.

The dogs know all about the ducks and there was supposed to be a strong bond of civilization between them. At feeding time I used to let the dogs explore the hedgerows, but then checked them into the backyard on leaving the "back 40". But the other day I sat down for a moment to enjoy the Southern evening, counted the ducks at 15, then returned to the backyard and forgot to count the dogs. Three hours later when I called the dogs I got no answer—and succumbed to a swift suspicion.

I got them out of the "back 40"—but noted that the geese and ducks were gathered in a tight circle on the water of the lagoon, reminding me of the ominous circle that the wagon train forms when attacked by Indians.

Next day I counted the ducks, and instead of 15 there were but 13—and I found the two dead drakes.

The dogs, of course, took the Fifth Amendment—but I have the deadwood on them. They pretend to me they are civilized, but as soon as my back is turned one becomes a murderer and the other an assassin.

But it would have paid them to have been wholly honest with me. No longer can they explore the hedgerows and ditches of the "back 40". They are locked out at all times. And it will be a couple of more weeks before my wildlife breaks up its wagon-train circle and recovers its sense of security.

In one respect I am fortunate. It was a couple of drakes I lost. Mallard drakes aren't exactly admirable characters. Mallard hens are the valuable, and smarter ones—for the hens recognized treachery when they saw it, and escaped.

Shortage in Fees, Fines

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The fee and fines cost account of the Sebastian County sheriff's department was short more than $5,900 in the Fort Smith District Jan. 1, 1966 through last April 30, according to a report Wednesday by the Local Affairs and Auditing Division of the state Administration Department.

Aubrey McCasland, administrative officer of the division, said Deputy Sheriff Donna E. Gibson Sr. had written all the checks issued from the account since Jan. 1, 1963. The division asked for a settlement.

114 Killed in Week in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. combat casualties in the Vietnam war dropped to their lowest level in six months last week with 114 Americans killed, 893 wounded and five missing, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said 164 were killed and 1,442 wounded the week before.

But the sharpest decline last week was in the number of South Vietnamese troops reported killed in action—76 compared with 183 the week before.

The number of Communists killed dropped to 1,399, the lowest since the week that ended June 10, the U.S. Command said. But U.S. headquarters said the kill ratio of 6.8 to 1 for the allies last week was the highest this year and possibly one of the highest of the war.

The low casualty figures reflected another relative lull in the ground war and did not include the casualties in the disastrous fire aboard the carrier Forrestal Saturday.

A U.S. spokesman explained that it was not known yet whether these would be classified as combat or operational casualties since the fire and explosions began with an accident as the carrier was preparing to launch strikes against North Vietnam.

The Forrestal casualties increased to 131 dead today with the death of two injured men. Three are missing and 62 others were injured.

The U.S. Command announced three new operations of battalion size but reported significant contact in only one of them.

U.S. pilots flew 161 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday, their biggest day since July 13, when 170 MiG bombers downed 27 Americans—nine of them seriously—and set some fuel stores on fire at the U.S. Navy base and petroleum storage area at Nha Be, 10 miles south-east of Saigon.

A Man With More Than Five Credit Cards Is

You can bet that any man today who carries more than five credit cards in his wallet is emotionally immature. He is trying to use them as a substitute for mother love in his life.

Group Favors 4 Year
Terms, No More Than
Two for GovernorBoundaries Outlined in ASC Election

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A recommendation that the governor's term be increased from two to four years and that the governor be limited to two terms was accepted Wednesday by the Constitutional Revision Study Commission.

The recommendation was among several suggested by the Commission's Executive Branch Committee.

The governor could serve no more than nine years under the recommendation. That situation would arise if the governor fills an unexpired term and is then selected twice.

The Commission also accepted a recommendation that the governor and lieutenant governor be elected on the same ticket and meet the same qualifications.

Other recommendations dealing with contested elections and the succession of an incapacitated governor were sent back to the committee as were suggestions concerning Amendments 35 and 42. Amendment 35 involves the state Game and Fish Commission and Amendment 42 is concerned with the state Highway Commission.

If the position of lieutenant governor became vacant the governor would appoint a person to fill the vacancy under another recommendation accepted by the Commission. The recommendation stipulates that the appointee would have to have the approval of both houses of the legislature.

The Commission also adopted a recommendation which would change the amount of votes needed for an overriding veto by the legislature from a simple majority to a three-fifths vote.

The salaries of the state's constitutional officers would be in the hands of the legislators under another recommendation accepted by the Commission. The committee recommended that the salaries be removed from constitutional jurisdiction and be placed under statutory law.

Deletion of requirements for the printing and stationary contracts would be removed from the Constitution under yet another recommendation accepted by the Commission.

Riot Tactics
Follow Red
Pattern

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi Sen. James O. Eastland says Negro rioters in American cities "follow tactics used by the Communist party the world over."

"It's the identical pattern," said the cigar-smoking Democrat, who is presiding over a Senate investigation of the wave of violence searing U.S. cities. "Sniping, looting, rioting, Molotov cocktails."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., cautioned against riot inquiries which concentrate on lawmen, agitators and Communists without stressing as well social and economic conditions he said behind violence.

"The only reason that this is happening is because the conditions are there," said Brooke, a Negro and a member of President Johnson's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders. "The conditions are such that it can be set off," he added in an interview.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities was poised meanwhile to begin a riot investigation of its own, looking into the influence of subversive organizations in precipitating, exploiting or prolonging rioting.

Police officials from three troubled cities told Eastland's Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday that Black Power

Ruling in Election
Case Appealed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A brief was filed in the Arkansas Supreme Court Wednesday, appealing a ruling by Circuit Judge Tom Digby that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's call for a special election Nov. 7 was null and void.

The election would be for Pulaski County Judge. An attorney for Gene McCoy, a Little Rock advertising man, filed the brief. McCoy contends that if an election is not held he is being deprived of his constitutional right to vote for a county judge.

Judge Digby said in his ruling that there was no statutory authority for calling the election.

Judge - elect Tom Gulley drowned last November before he took office. Arch Campbell, the incumbent, did not seek reelection but has remained in office.

Suit Charges
Money Missing

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A suit filed in Pope County Circuit Court alleges that before the Bank of Pottsville was closed in January 1966, more than $56,000 was misappropriated.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., the receiver for the insolvent bank, filed the suit. The charge was made in the suit against The Home Insurance Co. of New York.

The FDIC filed the suit in an attempt to collect $35,000 under a blanket bond policy held by the former bank officials.

Publisher at Malvern Dies

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. J. H. Beerstecher, owner and publisher of the Malvern Daily Record since 1948, died at her home Wednesday. She was 86.

The paper was founded in 1916 by Mrs. Beerstecher and her husband. She continued the business after his death in 1948.

Mrs. Beerstecher, a native of Cleburne County, was a charter member of the Arkansas Press Women.

She is survived by two daughters, Miss Francis Beerstecher and Mrs. Elbert E. Butler, and a grandson, Miss Beerstecher is editor of the paper and Mrs. Butler is business manager of the paper.

The funeral will be held at 4 p.m. this afternoon at the Arkinson Funeral Home in Malvern.

$3.2 Billion Increase in Social Security
Heads for the House

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $3.2-billion increase in Social Security benefits—about $1.2 billion less than President Johnson proposed—is headed for House consideration.

The House Ways and Means Committee, after five months of hearings and deliberations, approved Wednesday its version of a complex measure that would:

Provide at least a 1 1/2 percent increase in benefits for Social Security recipients, effective the second month after enactment.

Raise Social Security taxes, beginning with a maximum $44 hike next year, to pay the cost of the increases and try to keep pace with still-soaring hospital and medical costs.

Make a number of changes in the conditions for federal participation in state welfare and medical programs, generally in the direction of limiting the extension of Medicaid eligibility and of encouraging work training and job requirements for some categories of welfare recipients.

Medicaid—a different program from medicare—is aimed at providing medical and hospital care for the poor.

Sponsors aimed at House consideration of the bill within two weeks.

On the Social Security benefit side, the bill would provide the general raise—less than the 15 percent Johnson proposed—and the special raises for those receiving minimum amounts.

The minimum benefit under the regular old-age program would be increased from $44 to $50 a month, compared with the administration recommendation of $70.

The special benefit paid certain persons 72 and older with insufficient coverage for the regular program would be increased from $35 to $40 a month for a single person, from $52.50 to $60 a month for a couple.

The committee scaled down the administration-proposed increases by a total of $1.2 billion, members said, to avoid having to raise payroll taxes as high as those would have been.

Directories
Being Sold

"Zip Code Directories are now being sold door-to-door by local youths," states Hope Postmaster A.D. Brannan.

The directories, selling for a dollar, contain the names and zip codes of every town and city in the U.S. Every business and office could make frequent use of this directory and every home would find it useful in mailing Christmas cards and other personal mail. Correct zip codes on mail and parcel post means speedier and more efficient delivery.

Texarkana
Gets Large
Paper Mill

Texarkana — International Paper Company officials announced Wednesday night plans to construct a $97 million paper mill on the Sulphur River below Texarkana Dam in northeast Texas.

The location is contingent upon the company's being able to obtain adequate fresh water and effluent disposal permits, E.E. Ellis, Jr., vice-president and general manager of the firm said.

The plant will be 10 miles south of Texarkana. When completed in early 1970 the mill will have two paper machines with an annual capacity of about 231,000 tons of bleached board and bleached paper. One machine will make high quality coated bleached board, while the second will produce coated label and offset paper.

The plant will employ some 750 persons and the annual payroll should exceed $6 million.

Rockefeller
Praises State
Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — David Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, praised the economic education program in Arkansas Wednesday in a speech at the University of Arkansas Economic Education Workshop.

Rockefeller, brother of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, ranked Arkansas' economic education program as one of the finest in the nation.

"If there had been sound economic education programs before, we wouldn't be having some of the trouble we're having today," David Rockefeller said.

He said a number of Civil Rights and labor leaders formed an organization in New York Tuesday and decided that improved education, better jobs and housing, could prevent race riots such as those which have been prevalent this summer.

LBJ Proposes
10 Per Cent
Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered today an accelerated buildup of U.S. forces in Vietnam and called on Congress to adopt a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes to help pay for it.

The President, in a budget and tax message to Congress, said American troop strength in Vietnam will be increased by 45,000 men, raising the total by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30 to 525,000, in a briefing outside the message itself he made the increase figure 45,000 to 50,000.

His figure on forces was higher than the sum of the latest county from Saigon—461,000—plus the increment of 45,000 to 50,000. But Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said 480,000 are authorized, a figure that would account for Johnson's total.

Johnson also recommended a speed-up in corporate tax collections.

"Beginning Jan. 1, 1968, corporations would pay their estimated taxes on the basis of 80 per cent of their liability, rather than 70 per cent," Johnson said.

"Over a five-year period, small corporations, as well as large, would become current in their tax payments in the same way as individual proprietors already are," he said.

He said such accelerated collections would yield $800 million additional revenue in fiscal 1968 and "somewhat more in subsequent years."

Johnson also recommended "continuation of excise taxes for the immediate future."

The seven per cent manufacturers excise tax on autos is now scheduled to drop to two per cent April 1, 1968, and one per cent Jan. 1, 1969.

"The drop to two per cent should be postponed to July 1, 1969, and the drop to one per cent should be postponed to Jan. 1, 1970," Johnson's message said.

No Visitors For Fight Scene

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)

There will be no visitors allowed at the studio when Julie Newmar and Camilla Sparo do their big fight scene for "Mackenna's Gold" . . . Julie, playing an Indian girl, tries to drown Camilla by pulling her under in a pool . . . And it'll be a topsy-turpy scene. Walter Matthau had a bar put up on his dressing room ceiling so he could dangle from it, thus theoretically strengthening his just-healed broken arm . . . In Miami Beach, The Monkees and Peter Nero were playing next door to each other—The Monkees had 95 policemen guarding them, Nero only one . . . Claudia Cardinale's son, Patrick, asked mommy to bring him back only one thing after she finished "A Time For Heroes"—a cowboy suit.

Joby Baker is taking the realistic view. He's starring in a new CBS series, "Good Morning World," which, according to advance tips, could be a winner. Joby hopes it is, of course, but he realizes that, win or lose, he's way ahead.

"It can't possibly hurt me," he says. "I know that as a result of being on this series, I'll never be on unemployment again. The exposure is certain to make me a salable commodity."

"But if it's a success, I'll be able to do anything. If it's a success, I'll make so much money I can go to Spain and paint or get braces for my kids' teeth and pay cash, or hire Peter Ustinov to run the U.N."

Baker is a pleasant young man who got started as a night club comic. Then he got a break and was cast in "The Last Angry Man" with Paul Muni. He thought he was on his way to a career as a dramatic actor.

"Hah! Right after that, Columbia put me in three Gidget pictures in a row. Now I'm glad for it—those Gidget fans are older now, just right for Good Morning World. But, at the time, I got so sick of playing the best friend that I took a year off and just painted."

Joby—the name is a childhood nickname, a contraction of Joe B.—says he has wanted three things out of show business.

"I wanted to play in 'The Last Angry Man.' I wanted to get into Special Services in the Army and I wanted to work for Carl Reiner. I've done all three."

There's nothing left—except success.

NOTABLES' QUOTABLES

"I've had a change of attitude. I used to do three pictures a year, but now I wait for something interesting. Of course, you can wait too long. My friend, Montgomery Clift, waited a lifetime and never really found what he was looking for."—Gregory Peck.

"I won't sing, I can't sing, so I won't. I'll do Hamlet in Sanskrit if they ask me, but I won't sing."—Alejandro Rey.

"I feel the urge to settle down, to get some roots, a woman, some more children."—Omar Sharif.

"A fortune teller once told me I would be married twice. But another one said I would be married three times. It makes it difficult to plan ahead."—Jill Ireland.

"I like to play strong women. I doubt if I could ever be an ingenue—I'm not cut out for it."—Gayle Hunnicutt.

In truck and back yard gardens and in local vegetable stalls, fresh snap beans abound these days. Given interesting treatment, these green beans will produce delicious salads and cooked dishes. Who says snap beans have to be dull?

FRESH SNAP BEAN SALAD

- 1 lb. cooked fresh snap beans, cut into 1½-inch lengths
- 1 cup fresh onion rings
- 2 tablespoons salad or olive oil
- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1 cup diced fresh celery
- 1 head lettuce
- 4 medium-sized tomatoes, quartered

Combine snap beans, onions, oil, lemon juice, salt,

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Lucille Ball was sitting in her green and beige, very elegant office at Desilu Studios, eating an executive's lunch, looking like the pretty red-haired star she is, and sounding very much like a mother.

"When my kids tell me they want to go to the movies I say, 'Bring me the ad. Are so satiated with the extremes, with what they call reality. I refuse to admit this degradation is reality. A lot of these pictures are making money but they are written and directed and produced by dirty old men, and people are making the mistake of blaming it on the youth who acted in it. There is a lot of reality in the world we don't have to exploit and make glamorous. I'm also getting tired of mini-skirted beauties running the world."

The note taped to the dressing room mirror said "Peter, please slip off the tie without untying, if possible. Wes."

It seemed to signify the title of the series being filmed on the nearby soundstage, Mission: Impossible.

The difficult task fell to Peter Graves because the wardrobe man was afraid that the stripes in his tie would not be the same from day to day unless the tie stayed tied. "But if the audience is watching the stripes in my tie, we're in trouble," Peter laughed.

The more difficult task for Peter is the job of replacing Steven Hill as the popular CBS-TV, Emmy Award-winning series returns for its second season. But it could be that this series is the career boost the tall, silver-haired, handsome, easy-going and very likable actor needs.

He has worked steadily in his years in Hollywood, first as the adult human star of the popular children's series, "Fury." Then in a syndicated series filmed in Australia, "Whiplash and finally as co-star in Court Martial, a series of which he is proud, but which was not scheduled at a time to attract a large audience.

He frankly says he has not been satisfied with his career. "The business has been eminently kind to me. I have worked a lot and made money. But I'm not where I want to be. I think this show is a step. I don't have an ambition to play the greatest Hamlet that anyone ever did. But I guess I want to be a star, don't I? It's what I want in the business for and my goal has never flagged. I want to do good work. I suppose a certain amount of ego is involved, but basically I think it's the sheer joy of playing good parts in top films.

Life In Arkansas

By TOMMY YATES

Associated Press Writer

Andrew J. Brown of Hot Springs and his brothers and uncles could possibly claim a record for public service if there were a way to do so.

At the Hot Springs Fire Department alone, for instance, the family has compiled a total of 150 years service. The tenure ended in June when Brown retired from the department after 20 years of service.

Brown, who reached the rank of captain, was the last member of the family to serve on the department.

His uncle, Riley Brown, started the family's long record of public service on the fire department in 1908. Riley served for 38 years before leaving.

Andrew's father, Andy, was a long-time member of the department. He also served for several years as the city's electrical inspector prior to retirement a few years ago.

Andrew's other uncles, Dave, Austin, Butler and Pleas Brown were on the fire department, serving for several years each. A brother, Donald, also was a Hot Springs fireman, but, Andrew said, he moved to Texas.

On top of that, Andrew's three brothers, Donald, Kenneth and Carlton, are former members of the Hot Springs Police Department. Their father also worked with the police force from 1921-22.

Kenneth is now a state trooper and Carlton is chief of police at Rogers.

Although the Brown family's tenure on the fire department is broken, it may not be ended.

Andrew has two sons, one 19 years old and the other 8. But, Andrew said, "They haven't expressed a desire to become firemen" and carry on the family tradition. The elder son is a paratrooper and is en route to Vietnam.

To a layman, being a fireman sometimes looks easy. But when the fire erupts, everyone is thankful the fireman is there because the work is dangerous.

Andrew said he hasn't had any close calls in his years of service. At least "that a fireman would think unusual," he said.
